KALI TAL
Co-Founder PublisherPro

In medical research, publishing in English is essential. However, researchers are often not comfortable writing in English, especially since half of them are non-native English speakers. The Publisher Pro web app offers scientists specialized writing tools, automatic coaching, customizable templates, and helps them write their studies twice as fast. Kali Tal has an interdisciplinary Ph.D. from Yale University, and extensive experience editing scientific papers and grants. She regularly teaches scientific writing courses to students, postdocs, clinicians and faculty.

DOMINIQUE HENRI
Co-Founder and CEO Thinkgate

Dominique Henri and his team are developing an airport planning tool software to address the problem of waiting times at security and immigration. As a co-founder and CEO of Thinkgate, he has set himself the goal of enabling the smoothest possible processes for airports, their partners, and passengers. Thinkgate’s core competence is to provide realistic forecasts and thus create the basis for lower structural costs and higher service quality.
